A BRILLIANT SUCCESS.

The Honolulu Iron Works' Castings at the Y. M. C A. Hall

A full house greeted Mr. Theo. H. Davies, the genial host on the occa-sion, at the Y. M. C. A. Thursday evening. The reception and entertainment was specially for the employes of the Iron Works and their families. With them were present many invited guests, among whom were noticed Major Wodehouse, Hon, A. S. Cleg-horn, the Hon, Attorney-General, Rev. George Wallace, Rev. H. H.

Gowen, and other prominent citizens. The hall was handsomely decorated with wreaths, festoons, bouquets and palm leaves.

A conspicuous object in the hall was a long table in the southwest corner piles high, with linen covers thrown over it. Whether the table was loaded with a lot of fresh castings or new machinery might perhaps have been a matter of doubt were it not that the comfertable looking physiognomy and bust of Mr. Henry Hart appeared at the head of the table in the background, with an independent satisfaction that expressed better than words could do, "I'm ready for you

The bost, Mr. Davies, with the manager of the Iron Works, Mr. A. Young received the arrivals at the head of the stair, and in the hearty offhand mannet of genuine hospitality that made every comer at once feel at home. Following is the programme, which proved to be one of the best yet given ry local talent on similar occasions: PROGRAMME.

Pianoforte Duet-"Heather Bells" The Misses Young Song-"The Storm Fiend". Mr. Colin Jackson

Song-"The Anchor's Weighed".Mr. A. Jenks Mr. Crozier Song-"First in the Field Mr. SwanzyMr. Holdsworth Contrie Song.... ...Mr. Guild Violin Solo Song—"My Queen".....Miss Bertin Von Holt

Song-"Forty Years ago Mr. Rosewarne Song—"Nothing else to do"....... Mr. Davies

Duet-Pve Wandered in Dreams' The Misses Von Holt The plane accompaniments were given by Mrs. T. R. Walker, Mr. Hedemann and Miss Von Helt. The numbers were all encored, and most of the encores were responded to. A short address was delivered at the close by Mr. Davies. In which he expressed the delight it gave him to meet the men of the Iron Works and their families "away from ham-mer and tongs." It was a source of great pleasure to him when in England to exhibit to his friends the pho tegraph of the men connected with the establishment; but as he had been met on some of these occasions with the question, "why are you not in the group yourself," he was glad to learn from Mr. Hedemann that another photograph is to be taken, in which he will have a chance to appear. warned the workmen most earnestly to show their strength by avoiding strong drink, to have regard to their own honor, the honor of the Iron Works and the honor of the country, and he hoped when he returned two years hence, as he intends to do, that he and they may be able to give to one another a good account of them

The company was then invited to wait and partake of the refreshments which were passed round in abundance sandwiches, lemonade, coffee, cakes, strawberries, ice cream and other dehelous edibles. After these had been disposed of with rest, the company dispersed, Mr. Davies standing at the head of the stair and giving a hearty hand-shake and good-bye to each one passing out.

Husband—"I was in great luck to-day. I found a silver dollar in the street." Wife—"I wish you would give it to me. John, baby needs a pair of new shoes." Husband-"Give it to you! Why, I spent it and another dollar with it celebrating the event."
